Michigan marijuana dispensary armed robbery suspect arrested

Police believe Zachary Brockway fled, was hiding in North Manchester

By ROB BURGESS
Wabash Plain Dealer Editor

A man who was suspected of being part of an armed robbery of a marijuana dispensary in Michigan was arrested last week in North Manchester.

On Friday, North Manchester Police Department (NMPD) Chief Jim Kirk said NMPD officers were assisted by the Wabash County Sheriff's Department, Kosciusko County SWAT team and Wabash Drug Task Force in serving a Michigan arrest warrant and a search warrant for controlled substances at around 10:15 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 24 in the 500 block of West 3rd Street in North Manchester.

Kirk said Zachary Brockway was wanted from the state of Michigan for an alleged armed robbery on Sunday, Aug. 22 "in which he and another suspect robbed a marijuana dispensary at gunpoint" in Newaygo County, Michigan. According to WOOD-TV's Michael Oszust, two employees of the dispensary were robbed at gunpoint then tied up with zip-ties. The two suspects drove away in a red Dodge Charger before authorities arrived, according to the Newaygo County Sheriff's Office. "A vehicle matching the description was pulled over by Three Rivers police in St. Joseph County. One of the suspects was immediately arrested while the other ran away," reported Oszust on Tuesday, Aug. 24. "Authorities continue to search for the second suspect. No description of the suspect was released but the sheriff's office said both suspects were from northern Indiana." Oszust reported the stolen marijuana from the dispensary was found inside the vehicle. Kirk said "detectives believed (Brockway) fled police in Michigan and was hiding" at the North Manchester location. Kirk said Brockway was arrested for the Michigan warrant, and further

Local libraries enforcing mask policies

Masks are now mandated for all North Manchester Public Library (NMPL) patrons over the age of 8 at all indoor in-person programs starting Wednesday, Sept. 1.

COVID-19 Delta variant causes a surge in cases locally and across state

By ROB BURGESS
Wabash Plain Dealer Editor

As the COVID-19 Delta variant surges across the state and nation, one visible sign of the times is the ever-changing status at local libraries involving masks.

On Monday, Aug. 30, North Manchester Public Library (NMPL) adult department manager and marketing coordinator Jeanna Hann said because of the increase in positive COVID-19 cases in Indiana and Wabash County, masks would be mandated for all patrons over the age of 8 at all indoor in-person programs starting Wednesday, Sept. 1.

"Free masks will be provided at the circulation desks for any attendees who need them. Masks will not be mandated at outdoor programs," said Hann. "If you are uncomfortable coming into the library or wearing a mask, we encourage you to check out our virtual programming, which will be returning in September."

Hann said a "vast archive" of virtual programming events from this year and last year are also available anytime on the library's Facebook page.

"Masks are recommended for all patrons who visit the library and are available for free at the front desk," said Hann.

On Tuesday, Aug. 31, Wabash Carnegie Public Library (WCPL) executive director Ware W. Wimberly said their policy on facemasks was based on the county metrics from the Indiana Department of Health (ISDH) COVID-19 dashboard for individual county metrics.

For the past two weeks, Wabash County has been in the orange, or second-highest, advisory category, with a two-week metric score of 2 out of a possible 3.

Wimberly said if this score was under a 2 level, facemasks were optional for staff and public, but that if it was at a level 2 or 2.5, it remains optional with the public "but we strongly encourage facemasks to be worn by visitors or patrons inside the library building."

Wimberly said if that score reached 3, though facemasks would be required to be worn

Chamberlain Farm receives Hoosier Homestead Centennial Award

Urbana operation has been in business since 1920

By ROB BURGESS
Wabash Plain Dealer Editor

In 1920, Chamberlain Farm in Urbana began operations.

And late last month, the staple of the local farming community was honored by the state for its longevity.

On Monday, Aug. 23, Indiana House Republicans digital media specialist and press secretary Allison Vannatsky said Chamberlain Farm was honored with the Hoosier Homestead Centennial Award for its over 100 years of continuous operation.

The Chamberlain Farm was among 73 farms recognized at the Indiana State Fair "for their commitment to Indiana agriculture."

Each year, two awards ceremonies are held in the spring and summer commemorating the achievements of farm families across the state.

In March, the Schilling farm in Wabash County was honored with a Sesquicentennial Award. Located in North Manchester, the Schilling Farm has been in operation since 1854.

In September 2020, Wabash County’s own Peden farm, which has been in continuous operation since 1905, was also honored.

In 2019, two of the honorees were from Wabash County: The Todd Floor Farm, established in 1918 and located in North Manchester, along with the Mary Ann Schenkel Farm, established in 1882 and located in Andrews, were both honored. Each farm received a Centennial Award. The two Wabash County farms were one of 96 in the state honored Aug. 9, 2019.

In 2018, the Walters and Duffey families were honored with Centennial Awards. In 2017, the Orville and Phyllis Brodt farm, which has been in operation since 1879, was also honored with the Centennial Award.

The Hoosier Homestead Award Program honors families who have made significant contributions to Indiana agriculture. Instituted in 1976, the program recognizes the impact these family farms have made on the economic, cultural and social advancements of Indiana. In the past 45 years, more than 5,800 farms have received the honor.

To be named a Hoosier Homestead, farms must be owned by the same family for at least 100 consecutive years and consist of more than 20 acres or produce more than $1,000 of agricultural products per year. The award distinctions are Centennial, Sesquicentennial and Bicentennial – for 100, 150 and 200 years, respectively.

“Agriculture is deeply embedded in the legacy of our state and continues to be a major player in Indiana’s economy,” said Rep. Craig Snow.

“The Chamberlain Farm is a great example of the dedication farmers across our state exhibit every day and I congratulate them on their outstanding accomplishment.”

The Hoosier Homestead Award Program recognizes farms owned and maintained by the same family for 100 years or more. Families can qualify for the Centennial, Sesquicentennial or Bicentennial awards.

“Agriculture remains a major player in Indiana’s economy,” said Sen. Andy Zay, R-Huntington. “Leading the way are farms like the Chamberlain’s, who have been here for generations. I applaud their devotion to agriculture and wish them continued success for years to come.”

by everyone in the library building.

“For our in-house programming events, it is a bit different,” said Wimberly. “If we reach a level 3, all programming events will have to either be canceled, rescheduled, curbside or virtual.”

Wimberly said for in-house programming events if it is at a level 2 or 2.5, they do require adults to wear the masks during the program but that they are optional for children although they encourage them.

Wimberly said if they were in a level 2 or 2.5, they would have a maximum of 20 people including staff and participants in the room for in-house programming. However, if the level is under 2, masks would be optional for participants and staff.

“Although we are excited about in-house programming restarting next month, we will continue to monitor the levels of COVID cases in the county,” said Wimberly.

“If needed, the library can change the status of an event due to higher levels or staff shortages (with) little notice. We also continue to look at outdoor programming, kits and virtual program too as both alternatives and options for programming purposes. Due to the ever-changing status with COVID levels, we thank the Wabash community for its understanding and support.”

Rupert Miller

May 7, 1947 – Aug 27, 2021

Rupert Miller, 74, of Cambridge City passed away on Friday, Aug 27, 2021. He was born on May 7, 1947 in Wabash, Indiana to Rupert J. Miller and Jacqueline Manning Miller.

In 1967, he married Sharon Isaacs in Connorsville. Together they raised 2 children, Rupert Jr. and Rachelle.

Rupert worked for the U.S. Government within the Department of Defense in labor relations. Upon leaving the Department of Defense, he was employed by Ford Motor Company in Dearborn, Michigan, for 21 years in corporate design. He was known at Ford for being the best dressed man in the company.

Rupert was a member of the Milton Masonic Lodge F&AM #108.

You could often find Rupert enjoying the great outdoors on the farm, whether he was clearing the land, cutting wood, or taking care of the animals. You never saw Rupert without his pipes; he never left home without them. Rupert was a true patriot. He loved his Lincoln LS and his dog, Buddy. Most importantly, Rupert adored his wife of 54 years and took great admiration and pride in his family.

Along with his wife, he will be greatly missed by his children, Rupert (Nancy) Miller Jr. and Rachelle Hamilton; grandchildren, Rupert Miller III, Evan Hamilton, Makayla Hamilton and Emily Miller; a brother, Randy Miller and sisters, Lorraine Campbell and Renee Long.

dren, Rupert (Nancy) Miller Jr. and Rachelle Hamilton; grandchildren, Rupert Miller III, Evan Hamilton, Makayla Hamilton and Emily Miller; a brother, Randy Miller and sisters, Lorraine Campbell and Renee Long.

Eagles run past Southwood for 2-0 season start

By SCOTT HUNT
Chronicle-Tribune Sports Editor

CONVERSE — The Oak Hill football team is off to a 2-0 start for the first time since the 2015 season and has used a time-tested formula to get there: control the line of scrimmage, play solid defense and run the football.

The Golden Eagles did all of the above in a 29-13 win over border rival and Class A No. 5 Southwood Friday night.

Oak Hill ran the football 49 times for 377 yards and scored all four of its touchdowns on the ground while limiting the Knights to 27 carries and 146 yards.

A common denominator in both of Oak Hill's wins has been the play of junior running back Kyle Turanchick, who has emerged as one of the state's leading scorers through the first two weeks of the 2021 season. He pounded Southwood for 284 yards on 32 carries and scored three of the Golden Eagles' TDs.

Turanchick has rushed for 470 and seven touchdowns through two games and is averaging 8.9 yards per carry. He also returned a fumble recovery for a score last week at Eastern. He had a simple explanation for the fast start to his junior season.

"Good line. Good line," Turanchick said, smiling broadly. "They just executed their jobs perfectly. Everybody did their stuff and the line blocked great. It worked out."

Turanchick had nine carries and nearly 50 yards on Oak Hill's tone-setting, 15-play scoring drive on their first offensive possession. The drive covered 78 yards and ran nearly eight minutes off the first-quarter clock. Turanchick's one-yard plunge and Grant Elzinga's point after kick gave Oak Hill a 7-0 lead with only 1:23 to play in the first quarter.

However, that was Oak Hill's only scoring in the first half and the Eagles lost a pair scoring opportunities on a fumble recovered by Southwood's Cole Winer and an interception by Joey Bland.

Following the fumble recovery at Oak Hill's 33-yard line, Southwood needed five plays to score its first points of the game when junior quarterback Morgan Lloyd pounded his way into the end zone from 14-yards out on a fourth down and four. A bad snap on the PAT allowed Oak Hill to hang on to a 7-6 with just over three minutes remaining in the first half.

Bland's interception came near midfield with just under a minute to play in the half and a 28-yard run by Lloyd and 10-yard scamper by Isaiah Sutton moved the Knights to Oak Hill's 15-yard line.

Lloyd spiked the ball to stop the clock on first down, threw an incomplete pass on second, was sacked for a short loss by Oak Hill's Austin Lawrence on third and had another incomplection as the first-half clock expired.

"We had to make a couple of adjustments at halftime, Their jet game and their read game had us a little confused at times," said Oak Hill coach Bud Ozmun. "(Lloyd) pulled it and went straight up the middle. We had to go in at halftime and just basically say we're going to stop him and somebody else is going to have to beat us. That's really what we wanted to do to begin with."

"Once you see it, you can't simulate it practice," he added of defending the 6-foot tall, 190-pound Lloyd. "We went back to just focus here then react to everybody else and I thought the guys responded really well in the second half. He's just an athlete. He's a stud."

Lloyd led the Knights with 105 yards on 12 carries and a touchdown. He also threw for 115 yards and a touchdown but completed just 9-of-31 passes. Winer had five catches for 86 yards and made a 13-yard touchdown catch with just over three minutes remaining in the game when Southwood trailed 27-6.

Knights coach Dave Snyder wasn't too pleased with his team's performance on either side of the football.

"We've got to get a little bit more in synch," Snyder said of Southwood's offense. "All of our plays are signaled in and our plays are numbered. We signal formation, if we're running motion and a play number. They didn't get it half the time.

"Why? I have no idea because this is what we do all the time. It's what we do in practice and what we've done for 10 years."

Oak Hill started the second half with the ball and moved along in much the same fashion as it did in its first drive of the game. The Eagles moved 69 yards in seven plays and just over three minutes and extended the lead to 13-6 on Turanchick's two-yard TD run.

The Eagles' defense forced a quick three-and-out and a nice punt return by Thomas Nally put Oak Hill at midfield.

A false start penalty opened the drive, but a pair of runs by Turanchick covered 19 yards, Will Warnock gained five more before sophomore Avery Mills busted through the right side of the line and sprinted 31-yards for a score with 5:03 to play in the third.

Oak Hill carried its 20-6 lead into the fourth quarter, but Southwood used a 14-play drive to march to the Eagles' 14-yard line and threatened to again make it a one-score game.

However, Mills made another big play when he blitzed in from his linebacker position, stripped the ball away from Lloyd, recovered the fumble and ran it out to Oak Hill's 38.

Turanchick exploded through the right side of the line and down the sideline for a 62-yard touchdown on the very next play and Oak Hill increased its lead to 27-6 with 5:51 remaining in the game.

"It was huge," said Ozmun of Mills' strip-sack-recovery. "He's growing. We're talking about a sophomore. He played as a freshman last year, but to be honest, not really knowing what he was doing. He was just being the athlete that he was."

"He's still really raw but we want the expectations to be higher for him, which they will get there," he continued. "Everybody has to be a little more patient with him because he's still learning the game and he's still figuring things out. Sometimes you lose that because in practice you just see what kind of athlete he is. He's getting better."

Oak Hill welcomes Elwood on Friday to begin CIC play. The Eagles then face Eastbrook (2-0) during CIC Day at Ball State on Sept. 11.

Though obviously pleased with Oak Hill's 2-0 beginning, Ozmun said the objective for his young team is simple.

"We've got eliminate our mistakes and continue to get better week-by-week and more confident," he said. "Our young guys have to keep growing up because our middle stretch (of schedule) is a bear. Our youth can't be youth, they've got to be players. So far they've done a nice job but we've all got to get better."

Southwood (1-1) endured its first regular-season loss since Sept. 8, 2017, a 26-21 setback to North Miami, ending a streak of 32-straight wins. The Knights opened their season with a Three Rivers Conference win over Rochester (45-26) and will try to get back on track in the TRC Friday at North Miami.

"I think we had 24 kids dressed tonight. If everybody showed up healthy we have 30," Snyder said. Very few in our senior class, very few in our freshman class. We just don't have a whole lot of options right now.

"We don't make excuses, we just keep battling on. I think it makes you tougher when you don't get things your own way."

HCAC preseason poll for volleyball announced

Six Spartans named ‘Athletes to Watch’

By DILLON BENDER

With the 2021 fall semester quickly approaching, the Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference (HCAC) announced its preseason poll and “Athletes to Watch” list for volleyball Wednesday, Aug. 25.

In a vote among league coaches, Transylvania University was slated to win the conference after receiving 97 points and seven first-place votes. The Pioneers enter the season ranked 11th nationally. The Lions of Mt. St. Joseph was picked second in Wednesday’s poll after earning one first-place vote and 85 points. Earlham College received the two other first-place votes and 80 points.

Hanover College (66 points) and Bluffton University (57 points) rounded out the top half of Wednesday’s poll. Manchester earned 13 points.

Head Coach Ivan Matos will enter his fourth year at the helm of the Manchester volleyball program this fall. Coach Matos will return the bulk of his core rotation in 2021.

Six Spartans garnered “Athlete to Watch” honors from the HCAC office.

Senior Samantha Campbell, from Brownsburg, will provide leadership for the Spartans, both on and off the floor, this fall. Campbell will also help anchor Manchester’s front line. An Honorable Mention All-HCAC performer a year ago, Campbell has 131 career total blocks to her credit.

Returning outside hitters Joy Maze, from Greenwood, and Helaina Walters, from Marion and Eastbrook High School, were also named “Athletes to Watch.” Maze saw significant playing time during her first year in a Black and Gold uniform, finishing the 2020-21 campaign with 158 kills, 130 digs, and 18 total blocks. Walters has played in 32 matches in her Manchester career and has posted career totals of 237 kills, 279 digs, and 31 total blocks.

Junior right-side Halle Planck, from Gas City and Mississinewa High School, was an Honorable Mention All-HCAC performer a year ago. Planck also garnered First Team All-HCAC honors, as well as All-HCAC Freshmen Team honors back in 2019. Entering this fall, Planck has tallied career totals of 434 kills and 83 total blocks.

The final two Spartans that were named “Athletes to Watch” by the HCAC office were sophomore setter Jordan Holland, from Osceola and Mishawaka High School, and newcomer Erika Kramer, from Greensburg and North Decatur High School. Holland saw significant playing time last year, appearing in 18 matches. Holland dished out 248 assists while collecting 98 digs. Kramer joins the Manchester program after transferring from IUPUI. Kramer is a graduate of North Decatur High School where she was a two-time section MVP and champion.

The Spartans will open play Wednesday, Sept. 1 at home against Olivet College. A JV match will begin at 5 p.m. with the varsity match following at 7 p.m.

HCAC play will begin Friday, Oct. 1 with a road trip to Hanover.

The Wabash Middle School (WMS) boys cross country team, 10 days after winning the Wabash County Jr. High Cross Country Championship, added the Penn Invite title to its list Saturday, Aug. 28.

WMS boys CC team wins again

Apaches take Penn Invite title Saturday, Aug. 28

By ROY CHURCH

MISHAWAKA — The Wabash Middle School (WMS) boys cross country team, 10 days after winning the Wabash County Jr. High Cross Country Championship, added the Penn Invite title to its list Saturday, Aug. 28.

On a very hot and humid morning and a hilly course, the Apaches used four eighth-graders and a seventh-grader to put five scorers in the top 12 finishers and post a decisive win over a nine-team field.

Wabash finished with 36 points to easily defeat Discovery (68), Grissom (72), Schmucker (105), Northside (133), Northridge (134), Elkhart Christian (170) and two non-scoring teams.

Drew Guenin-Hodson led the Apaches with a third-place finish in 11:18.76, followed by Isaiah Cordes, sixth in 11:37.42; Ezra Church, seventh in 11:45.87; Bobby Shull, eighth in 11:45.96, and Caidan Burchett, 12th in 11:52.2. Church was the lone seventh-grader.

Miller Xavier of Northridge won the individual title in 10:24.5.

Other Wabash finishers included Kamden Oswalt (sixth grade), 19th in 12:21; Jay French (seventh grade), 31st in 12:56; Beckett Shaw (fifth grade), 61st in 14:26; Keaton Lane (eighth grade), 14:28; Jacoby Amburgey (fifth grade), 68th in 14:34, and Matt Niles (eighth grade), 72nd in 14:51. The field consisted of 143 runners.

“I was pleased with the boys’ ability to compete in the race despite factors that could’ve given them a negative mindset,” head coach Ryan Evans said.

“We got to the meet 30 minutes before the gun went off, didn’t have much time to warm up, the course was new, and the other schools were bigger. However, their positive mindset allowed them to persevere.”

The middle school girls finished fourth in their event, won by Northridge.

Leading the Lady Apaches was Rinka Higuera (seventh grade) in 28th place with a time of 14:35; Chloe Cooper (seventh grade), 30th in 14:51; Hayley Friend (eighth grade), 39th in 15:22; Ava Bishir (eighth grade), 42nd in 15:23;

Quinn Myers (seventh grade) in 15:33; Caitlyn Shidler (sixth grade), 68th in 16:28; Bridget Bailey (eighth grade), 70th in 16:34; Maya Howard (eighth grade), 82nd in 17:00; Mia Fairchild (seventh grade), 97th in 17:40; Audri Shidler (seventh grade), 107th in 18:07; Sarah Marcum (fifth grade), 130th in 20:39, and Emma Cantrell (fifth grade), 137th in 22:38.

In the boys junior varsity event, Wabash freshman Jonas Church finished second in 18:54.6 behind Homestead senior Jude Minich (18:48.3).

Wabash ran all its freshmen in the JV race and they finished sixth in the 13-team field. Goshen won the event.

Behind Church were Chase Howard, 38th in 20:52.3; Kasen Oswalt, 40th in 20:59.2; Braxten Lakin, 73rd in 22:27.5, and Kristian Stanton, 117th in 26:37.9.

“The younger guys on the team are still learning to race a 5k,” Evans said. “They made some great strides today towards their goal. With many more races to go, I have no doubt that they will be ready by the end of the season.”

In the boys varsity event, the Apaches finished 12th behind Penn, the host team, which won the race.

Running without junior

Dave Ford, Wabash was led by sophomore Kaden Vogel, who finished 49th in 18:56.7 in his first race of the season. Braydon French (sophomore) was 73rd in 19:59.0, Elijah Callahan (junior) was 81st in 20:34.6, Nick Perkins (sophomore) was 86th in 20:51.8 and Ethan Berry (senior) was 105th in 22:55.0.

“The older guys are shaking off the rust and getting back into race shape,” Evans added. “What a better way to do that than go against some of the best competition in northern Indiana.”

Wabash had only three competitors in the girls varsity race. Sophomore Calisen Kugler was 58th in 25:58, junior Grace LaMar was 74th in 28:40 and freshman Ivy Beamer was 76th in 30:01.

The WMS boys will be out to defend their 2020 championship at the Terre Haute Savings Bank Invitational on Saturday, Sept. 4. The girls will also compete.

The two varsity squads will compete in the State Preview Meet in Terre Haute. Both meets are at the Lavern Gibson Championship Course.

The North Miami Invitational, scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 24, was canceled because of the extremely hot temperatures.

Manchester women’s CC picked second in HCAC preseason poll

By DILLON BENDER

With the 2021 fall semester quickly approaching, the Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference (HCAC) announced its preseason poll and “Athletes to Watch” list for women’s cross country Tuesday, Aug. 24.

The Black and Gold will once again look to compete for another conference title this fall. The Spartans were picked second in the preseason poll.

In a vote among league coaches, Hanover College was selected to win the league, earning six first-place votes and 94 points. Manchester and Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology finished in a tie for second-place after garnering two-first place votes and 88 points.

Bluffton and Franklin tied for fourth-place after receiving 58 points.

Director of Cross Country and Track and Field Brian Cashdollar will be in his 22nd year at Manchester University. Cashdollar has guided the men’s and women’s cross country programs to a combined 15 HCAC titles. The Manchester men won their most recent HCAC title in 2019.

as “Athletes to Watch” by the HCAC office.

Juniors Hannah Brubaker, from Goshen, and Lauren Smith, from Anderson and Lapel High School, as well as senior Fiona Frost, from Indianapolis and Warren Central High School, were all all-conference performers a year ago, finishing fourth, fifth and eighth at the HCAC Championships.

Brubaker’s career-best time of 24:05 is the 24th fastest time in school history. Smith’s top overall time of 24:21 stands as the 29th fastest mark at Manchester while Frost owns the 33rd best mark in school history (24:32).

The final Spartan that was tabbed as an “Athlete to Watch” was fifth-year Elizabeth Lohman, from Fort Wayne and Carroll High School. Lohman joins the Manchester cross country program after transferring from Trine University.

Manchester will open the season Wednesday, Sept. 1 when it hosts its Hokum Karem.

Manchester men picked second in HCAC preseason CC polls

By DILLON BENDER

With the 2021 fall semester quickly approaching, the Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference (HCAC) announced its preseason poll and “Athletes to Watch” list for men’s cross country Tuesday, Aug. 24.

In a vote amongst league coaches, Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology was slated to repeat as conference champions, earning seven first-place votes and 97 points. Manchester earned the other three first-place votes and finished a close second with 93 points.

Earlham was picked to finish third this year after earning 75 points, while Franklin (67 points), and Transylvania (57 points) rounded out the top half of Tuesday’s preseason poll.

Director of Cross Country and Track and Field Brian Cashdollar will be in his 22nd year at Manchester University. Cashdollar has guided the men’s and women’s cross country programs to a combined 15 HCAC titles. The Manchester men won their most recent HCAC title in 2019.

Three Spartans were selected as “Athletes to Watch” by the HCAC office.

Juniors Enrique Salazar (Plymouth, Ind./Plymouth) and Thomas Richardson, from Ladoga and Southmont High School, as well as sophomore Connor Havens, from LaPorte, will look to be a formidable trio for Manchester this fall.

Salazar was the 2019 HCAC Newcomer of the Year and was the 2020-21

HCAC Individual Champion. Enrique owns the 16th fastest time in school history. Richardson placed third after running a career-best 25:54 at last year’s conference championships. His time ranks 25th all-time at Manchester. Havens was the 2020-21 HCAC Newcomer of the Year after a runner-up finish at the league championships. His time of 25:46 stands 20th all-time at MU.

The 1-2-3 finish for the three Spartan standouts at last year’s HCAC Championships was the first time the feat had been accomplished since 2009.

Manchester will open the season Wednesday, Sept. 1 when it hosts its Hokum Karem.

The cost to vets of leaving Afghan partners behind

In the past two weeks, we've seen reports about the harm America's withdrawal from Afghanistan is bound to bring for women, girls, journalists and allies. But one group that hasn't received much attention is American veterans whose tours of duty have long since ended. Experts say the news coming out of Afghanistan is likely to reopen emotional wounds for many of them.

Matthew Cassady, a program manager with the Veterans Affairs Chaplain Service, said recent events have brought difficult memories "to the front burner" for many veterans.

"I think we certainly are seeing some things amplify, specifically in the mental health realm," Cassady said Monday. "The images that we've seen on television and different news networks have been absolutely heartbreaking for many of us. We know the people. We know the customs. We know the culture. And we know how difficult this is for them right now just seeing this happen. It hurts."

Nancy Ramsay is director of the Soul Repair Center, a clinic at Brite Divinity School at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth that offers training for chaplains and religious leaders caring for veterans. The Soul Repair Center is a leading voice highlighting something called moral injury, a "wound of conscience" that results when those in a dire situation like war violate their core moral beliefs. Ramsay said veterans may feel that the withdrawal has violated a moral code.

"What I'm hearing is that there's great anxiety on the part of vets who know that they were protected by these persons and feel an obligation, understandably, to make sure our commitments to them were fulfilled," Ramsay said. She said there's a link between moral injury and high suicide rates among veterans. "We need to pay attention to the ways in which these events could trigger really painful emotions and memories," she said.

And Ramsay said this phenomenon will not just be limited to those who served in Afghanistan. "Everything I can see suggests that there are a number of folks who served in Afghanistan and possibly also Vietnam for whom these days are very challenging," Ramsay said.

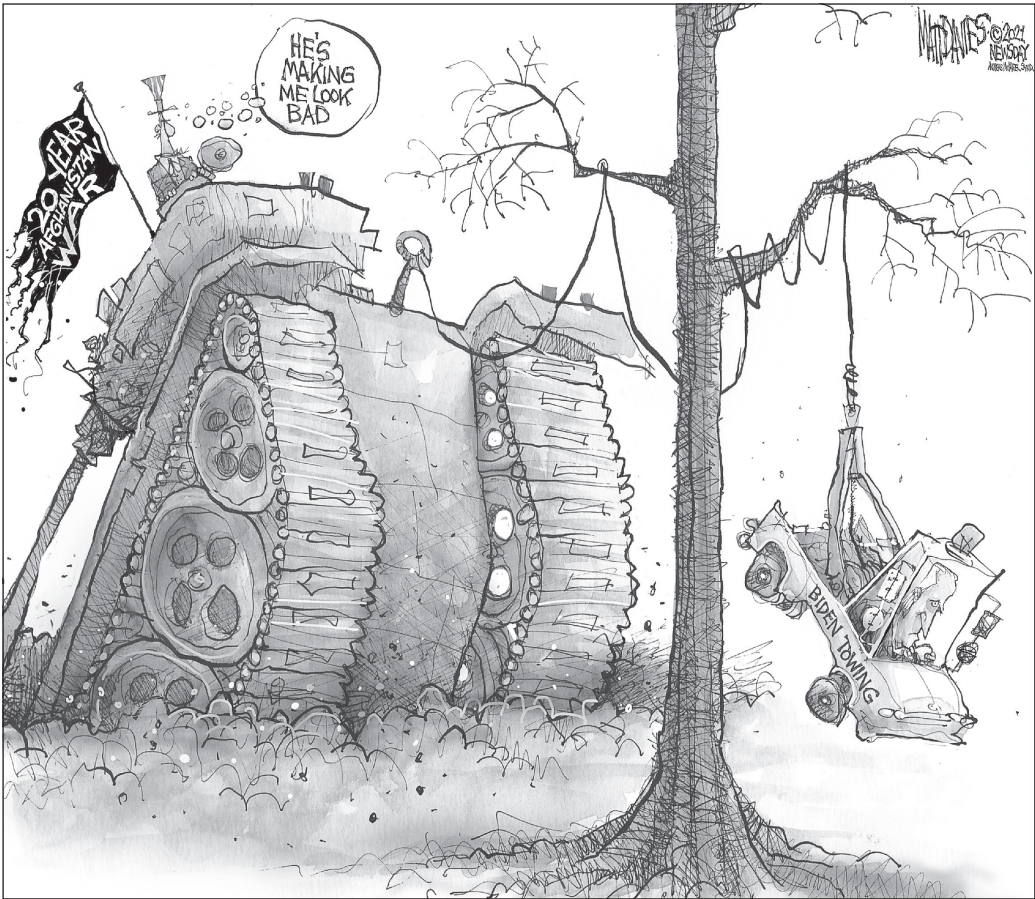

Military leaders are aware of those challenges. Last week, Defense Secretary Lloyd Austin and chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff Gen. Mark Milley both spoke out about the emotional dynamics for veterans.

"All of this is very personal for me. This is a war that I fought in and led. I know the country, I know the people, and I know those who fought alongside me," said Austin, a retired four-star Army general who served as a commander in Afghanistan. "We have a moral obligation to help those who helped us. And I feel the urgency deeply."

Ramsay and Cassady said it's important for all Americans to know that veterans may be affected by recent news, even if they didn't serve in Afghanistan, and that each veteran's moral wounds will heal differently. For veterans in our neighborhoods, workplaces and social networks, we should take the emotional toll seriously. We shouldn't make assumptions about how they're processing the news. We shouldn't try to elicit political opinions or war stories from them. We should be quick to listen and slow to speak. And, Cassady reminded, it never hurts to thank them for their service.

Violence, ignorance and greed

Violence, ignorance and greed no longer menace society from the dark. Today they live in the light of day.

Historically, the church has done some good in curbing violence. The state has taken the lead in dealing with ignorance. Business and finance affect the accumulation of wealth.

The problem today is that church, state, and business are all in a heady state of decline.

The church and its people refuse science and take sides in partisan brawls. The state and its public schools are no longer capable of training young people to be civil. Businesses and banks have trashed honest advertising, usury limits and support of the small business.

What needs to be done? Church people must study and champion science, public schools must re-learn how to teach respect for law and money has to grow a pair of ethics.

How and when? Up to you, folks. Better get busy.

Thank you to Dave Kunkel Cruise-In supporters

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of those involved in planning, organizing and supporting the Dave Kunkel Cruise-In; especially, our wonderful sponsors who continue to support this event year after year. A big thank you goes to those individuals who have been involved since the show began in 2000. We, also, wish to thank all of you who brought your cars to the show and all of you who came just to admire the unique and beautiful cars. Since we were unable to have the Cruise-In last year due to COVID-19, we weren't sure how things would go this year. However, we needn't have worried, because this show was as big or bigger than in years past with over 400 cars being judged.

I was very touched by the number of people who told me how much they enjoy this car show and how they try to attend each year. Everyone seems to love the location, which is at the beautiful Honeywell Center in our quaint downtown and they are all so thrilled when they receive an aware.

I was also touched to talk with people who had a family member suffering from ALS. Through this Cruise-In, we hope to make everyone more aware of this devastating neurological disease. All proceeds raised by this event go to the MDA for ALS research. My family and I are all so hopeful that someday there will be a cure or a treatment that will slow down the loss of the patient's motor skills so that they can live a more productive life.

Once again, our thanks to everyone involved in helping with the Dave Kunkel Cruise-In in any way. Hopefully, we will get to continue this fun event for many years to come. Until then, may we, who have been blessed, be a blessing to those in need.

How to think about the infrastructure bill

Earlier this month, the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act (H.R. 3684) passed the U.S. Senate in an overwhelming bipartisan vote. This legislation launches a multi-year one-trillion-dollar effort to improve roads, bridges, water and sewer systems, broadband, the electrical grid and other mostly traditional infrastructure projects.

This is the type of legislation for which there is both principled opposition and support. In other words, this is a normal law. One way to think through this law is to consider the magnitude of this spending and what infrastructure spending does and does not do for the economy.

This legislation spends roughly one trillion dollars over several years on infrastructure. The total value of publicly owned infrastructure in the U.S. is about $30 trillion. Our annual federal budget is about $4.5 trillion per year, and state and local tax collections add another $1.8 trillion per year. Spread over seven years, this is investment equal to about 0.4 percent of total capital stock and 2.2 percent of state and local tax revenues.

Placing that in the context, let's compare this bill to a homeowner who earns $50,000 a year and owns a $150,000 home. The infrastructure bill is roughly equal to between $600 and $1,100 of home maintenance, repair and remodeling. I'm not a fan of household comparisons of public spending, but this at least provides a scale of spending. However, this comparison misses some state and local contributions, and ignores the fact that public infrastructure has a much longer lifespan than private infrastructure.

Many folks view infrastructure spending as a job creator. While it is true that this spending tends to create construction and manufacturing jobs, the inevitable tax dollars used to pay for it destroy jobs in other sectors. Even if this spending is financed through borrowing, the real benefit lies elsewhere. It is also true that there will be large reallocation of jobs from one industry to another, and possibly from one year to another. It is not at all certain there will be net employment growth. The real benefits of infrastructure spending don't come from the short-term construction jobs.

The efficiency of public infrastructure is a key part economic growth. Private firms do not see a direct return on investment for public roads, bridges, sewers, or water systems, but there can be an overall impact on productivity. And productivity – how much a worker produces each year – is the key to economic growth. This is where the potential benefits of infrastructure spending occur.

The decision to invest more in public infrastructure is really a decision about the relative productivity benefits of public versus private spending. Every new tax dollar spent on public infrastructure reduces investment in private infrastructure. So, spending on this infrastructure bill necessarily removes money from private investors who would otherwise spend it on urban housing, research and development, more productive capital or private amenities.

Assessing these trade-offs has rarely been easier than it is today. Financial markets tell us a great deal about the perceived value of private infrastructure. Low costs of borrowing suggest businesses see little return on investing in new plant and equipment. Today's interest rates for new plant and equipment are at historic lows. There's not enough demand for investment dollars to drive up interest rates, suggesting that the productivity benefits of private investment are historically low.

In contrast, the low interest rates make government borrowing uncommonly cheap. The rate of return on public infrastructure is devilishly hard to measure, but at today's rates it need not be high to justify additional spending. That means we are in a rare window to borrow for long-term infrastructure improvements, but only if this spending improved the productivity of the economy.

So, if done well, the real benefits of this spending would be on improved productivity associated with updating infrastructure. Some benefits are obvious. Roadways and many railways are deeply congested, causing fuel waste, damage to shipped goods and lost time for workers. There are many hundreds of economic studies quantifying these types of losses.

One common example used for comparison involves the U.S. air traffic control system. Today's system is so antiquated, it costs the average passenger more than a half hour extra wait for each flight. That waste alone costs billions of dollars per year, yet fixing the system is perhaps a one-billion-dollar expenditure. So, comparing the benefits of a billion dollars spent privately by airlines to perhaps improve their in-flight WIFI versus a billion dollars spent to upgrade the air traffic control system, makes the benefit of public infrastructure spending pretty obvious.

To be fair, this example is helpful only to understand the issue. The air traffic control problem is apparent, and airlines could spend their own money to upgrade air traffic control. I'd support privatizing air traffic control, but that seems politically infeasible. In the meantime, modernizing the system is a good investment.

There are many other investments that have obvious benefits. Many of our nations' water and sewer systems are in dire need of investment. The debacle of Flint, Michigan's water system could be repeated in dozens, if not hundreds, of cities across the nation. A surprising share of water main pipes in U.S. cities approach a full century of service. The cost of replacing them is high, but potentially much lower than allowing them to fail when considering the effects.

Some of the investments will hasten the shift away from coal as an energy source. That transition would have been impossible just 10 years ago, but a growing share of Americans understand that we are moving beyond coal as an energy source. It is telling that both of West Virginia's senators voted for the infrastructure bill.

It is too much to suggest that America's infrastructure is crumbling, as the annual report from the American Society of Civil Engineers suggests. Of course, it could be they aren't wholly disinterested observers. However, there are many examples of real problems that that the spending in this infrastructure bill will at least partially remedy.

There is principled opposition to this bill. One trillion dollars is a lot of money, and our national debt must be a concern, even if it is not an imminent worry. A better bill would be implemented more slowly, with a better cost-benefit analysis of projects. Still, it is refreshing to see legislation that is so widely supported on an issue that American policymakers have ignored for too long.

NOTICE OF REAL PROPERTY TAX SALE
Wabash County Indiana
Beginning 10:00 AM Local Time, September 30, 2021
Courthouse - Commissioners' Room 2nd Floor

Wabash County
Pursuant to the laws of the Indiana General Assembly, notice is hereby given that the following described property is listed for sale for delinquent taxes and/or special assessments. The county auditor and county treasurer will apply on or after 09/13/2021 for a court judgment against the tracts or real property for an amount that is not less than the amount set out below and for an order to sell the tracts or real property at public auction to the highest bidder, subject to the right of redemption. Any defense to the application for judgment must be filed with the Wabash County Circuit Court and served on the county auditor and treasurer before 09/13/2021. The court will set a date for a hearing at least seven (7) days before the advertised date of sale and the court will determine any defenses to the application for judgment at the hearing. The county auditor and the county treasurer are entitled to receive all pleadings, motions, petitions, and other filings related to the defense to the application for judgment.
Such sale will be held on 09/30/2021 at the Courthouse - Commissioners' Room 2nd Floor and that sale will continue until all tracts and real property have been offered for sale. At the discretion of local officials, the tax sale may switch to an online format. If those measures are taking place, the public auction will be conducted as an electronic sale under IC 6-1.1-24-2(b)10 at www.zeusauction.com commencing on the same date / time listed above. All location updates will be posted at www.sriservices.com prior to the tax sale.
Property will not be sold for an amount which is less than the sum of:
(A) the delinquent taxes and special assessments on each tract or item of real property; and
(B) the taxes and special assessments on the real property that are due and payable in the year of the sale, whether or not they are delinquent; and
(C) all penalties due on the delinquencies, and
(D) an amount prescribed by the county auditor that equals the sum of:
(1) twenty-five dollars ($25) for postage and publication costs; and
(2) any other costs incurred by the county that are directly attributable to the tax sale; and
(E) any unpaid costs due under IC 6-1.1-24-2(c) from a prior tax sale.
No property listed below shall be sold if, at any time before the sale, the Total Amount for Judgment is paid in full. If the real property is sold in the tax sale, the amount required to redeem such property will be 110% of the minimum bid for which the tract or real property was offered at the time of sale, if redeemed not more than six (6) months after the date of sale, or 115% of the minimum bid for which the tract or real property was offered at the time of sale, if redeemed more than six (6) months after the date of sale, plus the amount by which the purchase price exceeds the minimum bid on the real property plus five percent (5%) per annum interest on the amount by which the purchase price exceeds the minimum bid on the property. All taxes and special assessments upon the property paid by the purchaser subsequent to the sale, plus five percent (5%) per annum interest on those taxes and special assessments, will also be required to be paid to redeem such property.
In addition, IC 6-1.1-25-2 (e) states the total amount required for redemption may include the following costs incurred and paid by the purchaser or the purchaser's assignee or the county before redemption: (1) The attorney's fees and cost of giving notice under IC 6-1.1-25-4.5; (2) The costs of title search or examining and update the abstract of title for the tract or item of real property. The period of redemption shall expire on Friday, September 30, 2022 for certificates sold in the tax sale. For certificates struck to the county, the period of redemption may expire Friday, January 28, 2022.
If the tract or item of real property is sold for an amount more than the minimum bid and the property is not redeemed, the owner of record of the property who is divested of ownership at the time the tax deed is issued may have a right to the tax sale surplus.
The Auditor and Treasurer specifically reserve the right to withhold from the sale any parcel which has been listed in error, or which otherwise becomes ineligible for sale either prior to 09/30/2021 or during the duration of the sale.
This notice of real property tax sale, and the tax sale itself are undertaken and will be conducted pursuant to the requirements of the laws of the State of Indiana which regulate the sale of land for delinquent taxes, pursuant to I.C. 6-1.1-24-1 et seq.
The County does not warrant the accuracy of the street address or common description of the property, and a misstatement in the key number or street address does not invalidate an otherwise valid sale.
Minimum bid amounts are prescribed by law and are subject to change prior to the auction date.
Pursuant to IC 6-1.1-24-3(e), property descriptions may be omitted for properties appearing on the certified list in consecutive years. A complete property list may be obtained at www.sriservices.com or in an alternative form upon request.
Registration For Bidding On the Tax Sale:
If you are interested in bidding on the tax sale for an Indiana county, you may register online at <https://sriservices.com/>. This registration is good for all counties that SRI services. You need to register only once for all counties. Make sure to bring the completed form with you to each sale. This will speed up the registration process for you the morning of the sale. If you do not have access to a computer with internet service you may register the morning of the sale.
Please arrive the morning of the tax sale at least 30 minutes before the beginning time to be assured you will receive your bid number before the start of the sale.
Please bring your registration form and W9 form with you the morning of the tax sale. You will be able to print these forms from the registration web site.
Pursuant to IC 6-1.1-24-5.1 a business entity that seeks to register to bid at the Wabash County Tax Sale must provide a Certificate of Existence or Foreign Registration Statement in accordance with IC 5-23 from the Secretary of State to the Wabash County Treasurer.

b. Bid Document 003000 – Stipulated Bid Form – Base Bid.
c. Bid Security (see below)
7. Each envelope that bids are included in is required to have a label on the outside indicating project name as well as the contractor's name and address.
F. Miscellaneous Provisions
1. Each proposal shall be accompanied by a certified check or acceptable bidder's bond made payable to the Owner, in a sum of not less than five percent (5%) of the total amount of the highest aggregate proposal, which check or bond will be held by the Owner as evidence that the bidder will, if awarded the contract, enter into the same with the Owner upon notification from him to do so within ten (10) days of said notification. Should a successful bidder withdraw his bid, or fail to execute a satisfactory Contract, the Owner may then declare the bid deposit of bond or check forfeited as liquidated damages but not as a penalty.
2. For contracts over $200,000, approved performance and payment bonds guaranteeing faithful and proper performance of the work and materials, to be executed by an acceptable surety company, will be required of the Contractor at the time he executes his contract. The bond will be in the amount of 100% of the Contract Price and must be in full force and effect throughout the term of the Construction Contract plus a period of twelve (12) months from the date of substantial completion.
3. The Owner reserves the right to reject any proposal, or all proposals, or to accept any proposal or proposals, or to make such combination of proposals as may seem desirable, and to waive any and all informalities in bidding. Any proposal may be withdrawn prior to the above scheduled time for the opening of proposals or authorized postponement thereof. Any proposal received after the time and date specified shall not be considered. The Owner reserves the right to accept or reject any bid or waive any informality or errors in bidding for a period of 90 days after bid date.
4. A conditional or qualified Bid will not be accepted. Award will be made to the low, responsive, responsible bidder.
5. All applicable laws, ordinances, and the rules and regulations of all authorities having jurisdiction over construction of the project shall apply to the project throughout.
6. Proposals shall be properly and completely executed on proposal forms included in the Project Manual. Proposals shall include all information requested by State Board of Accounts Form 96 (Revised 2013) included within the Project Manual. Under Section III of Form 96, the Bidder shall submit a financial statement. The Owner may make such investigations as deemed necessary to determine the ability of the Bidder to perform the work and the Bidder shall furnish to the Owner all such information and data for this purpose as the Owner may request. The Owner reserves the right to reject any bid if the evidence submitted by, or investigation of, such Bidder fails to satisfy the Owner that such Bidder is properly qualified to carry out the obligations of the Agreement and to complete the work contemplated therein.
7. Each Bidder is responsible for inspecting the Project site(s) and for reading and being thoroughly familiar with the Contract Documents and Specifications. The failure or omission of any Bidder to do any of the foregoing shall in no way relieve any Bidder from any obligation with respect to its Bid.

Mother Teresa’s shining example

On the eve of the 111th birthday of Mother Teresa of Calcutta, five nuns from Missionaries of Charity arrived in Rome from Kabul with 14 disabled Afghan youths, most of them children. The sisters, members of the religious community that Mother Teresa founded in 1950 and lived with until her death in 1997, have run an orphanage for children since 2006 in Afghanistan. With Italy’s help, they fled that country as the Taliban have taken over. British journalist Malcolm Muggeridge interviewed her for a 1969 TV documentary and 1971 book, both titled “Something Beautiful for God.” Muggeridge was skeptical of religion at the time – he would eventually become Catholic – but was mesmerized by the “divine light” he saw in and around the work of the Missionaries of Charity, who dedicated themselves to God and the service of the poorest of the poor. During their discussions, Muggeridge asked Mother Teresa if one of the “troubles” of our time is that we always insist “there must be some collective solution.” “I do not agree with the big way of doing things,” Mother Teresa replied. “To us what matters is an individual. To get to love the person we must come in close contact with him. ... I believe in person to person; every person is Christ for me, and since there is only one Jesus, that person is only one person in the world for me at that moment.” If that concept was hard for humans to process in 1968, it’s even more so in 2021, as we are deluged by the latest news updates on our phones. Mother Teresa’s words are timeless, however: “I believe the people of today do not think that the poor are like them as human beings. They look down on them. But if they had the deep respect for the dignity of poor people, I am sure it would be ... easy for them to come closer to them, and to see that they, too, are the children of God, and that they have as much right to the things of life and love and of services as anybody else.” As we approach Labor Day, here’s another idea from Mother Teresa that seems critical: “In these times of development, everybody is in a hurry and everybody’s in a rush, and on the way there are people falling down, who are not able to compete. These are the ones we want to love and serve and take care of.” Mother Teresa urged us not to be lost in hopelessness or be daunted by the seemingly intractable nature of worldwide problems. “We ourselves feel that what we are doing is just a drop in the ocean. But if that drop was not in the ocean, I think the ocean will be less because of the missing drop.” Mother Teresa believed that faith is lacking in the world “because there is so much selfishness and so much gain only for self. But faith to be true has to be a giving love. Love and faith go together. They complete each other.” She believed that God could be found by getting in touch with people, by meeting them where they live. As families and communities and churches, do we ask questions about how we can help the orphan and widow – next door, trapped in foster care, or exiled from their home countries? Is there something beautiful we can do in which we might just learn a little about God, even feel his presence at work in the world? You and I might not be able to fix Afghanistan or even things closer to home, but we can love in more radical ways. Kathryn Jean Lopez is senior fellow at the National Review Institute, editor-at-large of National Review magazine and author of the new book “A Year With the Mystics: Visionary Wisdom for Daily Living.” She is also chair of Cardinal Dolan’s pro-life commission in New York. Salamonie Senior Luncheon for Monday, Sept. 13

The monthly Salamonie Senior Luncheon will be held at noon Monday, Sept. 13, at the Salamonie Lake Interpretive Center, 3691 New Holland Road, Andrews, according to interpretive manager Teresa Rody. Anyone age 50 or older is welcome to attend.

“Join Jody Heaston, volunteer coordinator for the Indiana Department of Natural Resources State Parks division. She will be sharing information about the many uses of milkweed plants,” said Rody. The program begins with a carry-in meal at noon. Guests should bring a side dish to share, a beverage and their table service. The main dish of baked spaghetti is provided by Friends of the Upper Wabash Interpretive Services. A $1 donation will be accepted to help defray costs. Seating is limited. Reservations may be made by calling 260-468-2127.
